Helping Out

11 July 1985

Summer is the time for gardening, and the Friends of the Library have been doing some "weeding" of their own. That is, books that haven't been checked out at the Wasatch County Library for the last seven to ten years have been removed from the shelves in the adult fiction section to make room for newer books. This project was recently completed on three Wednesday mornings by the Friends of the Library officers and volunteers.

Now a second and even larger project is under way at the Wasatch High School library at the request of librarian, Clyde Muir. Many books are gathering dust and not being read by the students, so room needs to be made for more current and relevant books that students will read. Since unused books need to be "weeded" out of the entire library by the end of July, it will be a monumental task unless we can get many volunteers to help out for at least a couple of hours each week. The project started Sat., July 6th, and will continue at the following times throughout this month. Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.; Sat. mornings from 9 to 11 a.m.; and Wednesday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. Anyone who can donate some time please come to any or all of these sessions at the high school. Use the east entrance off the parking lot.

These books that will no longer be used at the county or high school libraries will be donated to the Friends of the Library to be sold at their big book sale at the Flea Market on the Tabernacle grounds during Fair Days, Aug. 9 & 10. Proceeds from the book sale will be used to furnish the badly-needed new addition on the Wasatch County Library which is now in the planning stages.

So plan to support your local library by giving some time during the week and by buying books at the up-coming book sale. Remember, "many hands make light work," and we do need all the help we can get!

Friends of the Library News

The Friends of the Library are having a special project at the library this Saturday, March 2nd, at 2:00 p.m. They are asking for volunteers to come and paste new pockets in books that need them. If you have an hour or two of free time, please come and help with this service project. Your assistance will be appreciated by the library staff.

As previously reported, the Friends of the Library are having a used book sale during county fair days next August. They are beginning the collecting now to allow ample time to get a good selection. If you have any books you would like to donate, please take them to any of the following collection points:

Charleston-Carol Lee Brown-654-0423

Midway-Cathy Godfrey-575 No. Center St.-654-3819

Center Creek-Darian Shaw-654-0744

Daniels-Larae Thacker-654-2796

Heber-Wasatch County Library-188 So. Main

All kinds of books are needed - paperbacks, cookbooks, novels, histories, fiction and non-fiction, even some types of magazines, etc. Sewing patterns, craft patterns, and sheet music are also being sought.

Please plan to support this worthwhile effort by the Friends of the Library. Proceeds from the sale will go to furnishings and new books for the Children's Room at the county library.
